

Hi Kids! Looks like it's holiday time for many of you earthlings. Yet, you might be feeling sad.

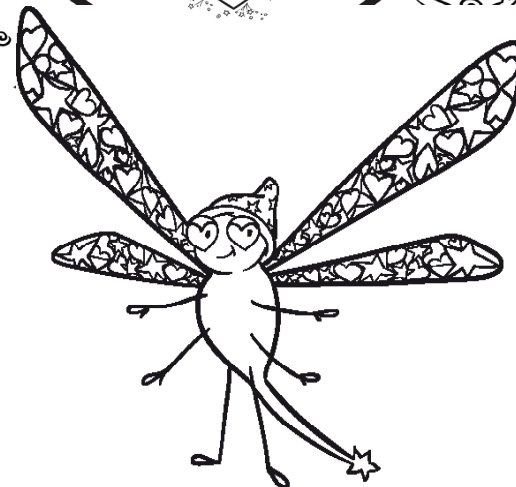

Are you missing a loved one, who has died, so you can't spend the holidays with them?

In the large heart below, write down the names of all the people and pets you will be spending time with this holiday season. In the smaller heart, write down the name of your special one, who died.

You have lots of LOVE to share this holiday season with all the people you listed in the large heart! You still share LOVE with your special one, just not in the same way.

Remember: Inside your heart will always be a special place for your loved one.

Have a happy holiday!
